

Jeffrey A. Buser

Home Address:
4278 Valley Quail Blvd. S.
Westerville OH 43081
614-794-0371
buser.8@osu.edu

Experience:

Associated Faculty, OSU-Columbus, September 2014 to present

Adjunct Professor, Columbus State CC, January 1992 to December 2021

Associated Faculty, OSU-Marion, September 2009 to May 2015

Assistant Supervisor for Unemployment Tax Analysts, Sheakley Uniservice, September 1996 to June 2003

Adjunct Professor, Otterbein College, September 1990 to August 1993

Adjunct Professor, Ohio Wesleyan University, August 1990 to December 1990

Assistant Professor, Murray State University, August 1985 to July 1990

Visiting Instructor, University of New Orleans, January 1985 to May 1985

Courses Taught:

Principles of Microeconomics, Principles of Macroeconomics, Introduction to Economics, Money and Banking, Intermediate Macroeconomic Theory, Intermediate Microeconomic Theory, State and Local Public Finance, Public Finance, Macroeconomic Theory (Masters), History of Economic Thought, World Economic Geography, Current Economic Issues

Education:

PhD (Economics) Purdue University, ABD

MS (Economics) Purdue University, 1981

BA (Economics) Indiana University of Pennsylvania, 1980

BA (History) Indiana University of Pennsylvania, 1980

Publications:

D. F. Parker and J. A. Buser, "Mortgage Lending in the Suburban Housing Markets," Suburbia Re-Examined: Proceedings from the Conference. Greenwood Press, 1989.

Presentations:

J. A. Buser and D. F. Parker, "Uncertainty, Bank Reserves, and Monetary Policy," presented to the Missouri Valley Economics Association meetings, February 1990.

J. A. Buser and D. F. Parker, "An Alternative Model of Banking, Uncertainty, and Excess Reserves," presented to the Midwestern Economics Association meetings, April 1989.

J. A. Buser and D. F. Parker, "Garn-St. Germain: A Preliminary Study of the Initial Impact," presented to the Midwestern Economics Association meetings, April 1988.

J. A. Buser, "Constituent Groups and the Federal Reserve," presented to the Missouri Valley Economics Association meetings, February 1988.

J. A. Buser, "Has Deregulation Led to More or Less Competition," presented to Banking Today: An Assessment, April 1986.

Dissertation Research:

"An Alternative View of Federal Reserve Regulations"